Prints are produced using pigment based inks which are less prone to fading as with consumer ink jet printers. All photographs are subject to fading if stored in direct sunlight or excess heat/humidity. It is recommended that prints are framed behind UV glass or coated with protective varnish. The image size is approximate and dependent on original dimensions, some cropping may occur. Borderless prints can be produced at no extra cost.

Prints are produced using pigment based inks which are less prone to fading as with consumer ink jet printers. All photographs are subject to fading if stored in direct sunlight or excess heat/humidity. Mdf and Stretch Frame canvases receive 2-3 coats of Giclee Varnish to protect the image from UV. A minimum of 1.5 inches (4 cm) border is included around the print to allow for framing, this can be single colour (usually white) or the image can be enlarged to wrap around frame. Custom sizes can be provided (mdf mounting only).
